CRIMINAL CASES FLOOD DOCKET

As Federal Court Begins Its Semi-Annual Term Here—May Last Three Weeks

Judge A. M. J. Cochran, District Attorney Sawyer A. Smith, Clerk John W. Menzies, Marshal Roy Williams and deputies and attaches of U. S. court arrived in Richmond Monday about noon to begin what may develop to be the biggest session of federal court held here in many years.

Court began at 2 o'clock with impounding of the grand and petit juries and Judge Cochran immediately got busy with his docket which is so voluminous that it is expected the term may be carried through three weeks, when usually one week suffices to finish here.

Prohibition Director Sam Collins and a number of agents are here as witnesses in several important liquor cases to be tried. Five big cases have been transferred to Richmond from other courts. These involve more than twenty men accused of alleged illicit liquor operations involving well over $1,000,000, it is claimed. Nine of the defendants are from Lexington and Fayette county.

One of the big cases scheduled for trial is that of Isaac Miller, Louis Kay and W. J. Wilson, Lexington, and John T. McAttee, Harrodsburg, who are charged with conspiracy to illegally remove several thousand cases of whiskey from the Frankfort Distilling Company's plant and the Dowling Brothers distillery at Burgin, Ky., in 1920 and 1921. The government charges that some of the permits on which it is alleged liquor was removed were forged instruments and that others were stolen from the office of the New York dry director.

This case was started at the last term of court at Richmond but was halted and the swearing of the jury set aside when the government introduced testimony that defense attorneys did not know who was to be presented and asked for a special term last spring, but before that time arrived was continued to the fall term of court.

Another case considered of great importance by prohibition authorities is that against Samuel Freedman, Max Morris, Larry Odenthal, Arthur Johnson and Fisher Brothers Transfer Company, all of Covington or Newport.

They are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law thru the alleged removal of some 5,000 cases of whiskey from the Old 76 distillery at Newport on permits claimed by government authorities to be forged or otherwise illegal. Freedman is president of the Old 76 company and Odenthal was superintendent of the distillery at the time of the alleged illegal removals. A number of permits asserted to have been found in the safe of the distillery office, Director Collins says, bore his forged signature.

Six Lexington men are defendants in a matter involving nine men indicted in connection with the alleged theft of about seventy-five barrels of whiskey from the Old Judge distillery near Frankfort early in September. The Lexington men under indictment in connection with the case are Thomas C. Barnes, Andy Settle, Charlie Shelton, Johnnie Hampton, Artie Stewart and William K. Nunnally. Other defendants in this and allied cases are Dave Clark (Cincinnati), Sam Peters, Frankfort, and H. Bixler, of Frankfort. The latter two were guards at the Old Judge distillery and were indicted on a charge of malfeasance in office. All these indictments were returned at the recent term of court at Frankfort and the cases were continued and transferred to Richmond.

The alleged conspiracy case against A. E. (Buck) Brady, L. Howard and R. Morton, Covington, growing out of their arrest and the seizure of 410 gallons of red whiskey and several automobiles following a bloodless battle at Perryville several weeks ago, is also scheduled for trial at Richmond. The accused men were indicted at Covington in an automobile and two others abandoned a highpowered roadster and escaped when dry officers punctured the tires with bullets at the time Brady and his companions were arrested.

In an investigation following these arrests it was discovered, officers say, that about 40 barrels of whiskey had been stolen from the Burke Springs distillery in Marion county, officers say. As a result of this investigation G. W. Stone and Beecher W. Pierce, guards at the Burke Springs distillery, and Fred Kaucher, superintendent, were indicted on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

BIG LAWYERS HERE FOR FEDERAL COURT

Richmond is entertaining some lawyers of state and national-wide reputation during the present term of federal court.

Most of them are here in connection with defense of a number of men charged with violation of national prohibition laws, and will be heard in action when the various trials come before Judge Cochran.

Perhaps among the most prominent are Judge E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Maurice Galvin, of Covington and Cincinnati. The former is a democratic leader of his state and the latter occupies as strong a position in the republican party in Kentucky. Judge Moore was a pre-convention manager for Gov. Cox of Ohio when he won the democratic presidential nomination at San Francisco. At that time Judge Moore capped his reputation as a consummate organizer and a forceful and vigorous leader. Mr. Galvin is credited with being perhaps the most influential and resourceful republican politician in Kentucky.

Among other prominent out-of-town lawyers here for big trials are Attorney Burkamp, of Covington; Bensinger, of Louisville; Judge Riddell and Chester Gouley, of Irvine; Judge G. E. Lilly, of Lexington; Judge D. Gray Falconer, and Harry Miller, of Lexington; J. N. McNeefe, Jr., of Stanford; Guy H. Bridge, of Frankfort, former Attorney General Charles H. Morris, of Frankfort; C. C. Bagby, and John W. Rawlings, of Danville.

There is a perfect host of witnesses and defendants here for the court session.

MADISON HI WINS AT MIDDLESBORO

Richmond Pigskin Artists Defeat Bell County Boys In Tight Game Saturday

Madison High School won her first football victory of the season at Middlesboro Saturday where her eleven defeated Middlesboro Hi by a score of 14 to 13. Madison had a hard fight to win. They were the best except in the third quarter, outplaying Middlesboro all the rest of the way. The winning touchdown was scored in the final period when Ralph Gentry picked up fumble and sped about 40 yards for a touchdown. Clouse made the extra point by a place kick.

Madison took the lead in the first quarter when she rushed the ball within a yard of the Middlesboro goal. The local boys drove it over but were called back as the quarter ended, the referee claimed, before the play was started. However, on the first play in the second period, Clouse carried the ball over and made a place kick for an additional point. Middlesboro also scored a touchdown in this period. One of their men intercepted a Madison pass and carried it within 21 yards of the line. Two penalties put the ball only a few yards for Madison's line where Middlesboro bucked it over. They failed to make the point after touchdown.

In the third quarter the story was all Middlesboro. They outplayed the locals by a wide margin in this quarter and deserved to score their touchdown which came as the result of repeated thrusts at tackle. After they had crossed the Madison goal for the second time, Middlesboro forward passed their way to their 13th point.

With the beginning of the last quarter, Madison fought hard and scored when they took advantage of a break. The ball was in mid-field when Middlesboro fumbled. It was the quarterback. He had been receiving the ball from the center and passing it to the other backs. Boen broke this up time after time by leaping over the line, tackling the quarterback before he could pass the goal. It was on such a play as this that Middlesboro fumbled. Gentry picked up the ball and ran 40 yards for the winning touchdown. Clouse, thru a perfect place kick, accounted for the point which won the game.

Shirley Clouse was the outstanding star on the Madison team. He carried the ball for good gains all through the game. In the absence of Captain Allman he was acting Captain and Clouse lead the team like a veteran. He also was a deadly tackler. His skill at making good place kicks won the game for the locals. Clouse behind him was Jesse Moberly, who was also a consistent ground gainer. He was given the name of "mankiller" as it seemed that every time a Middlesboro man would hit him someone would have to pick the tackler up. In the line Boen and Bower were good. Boen broke up plays before they could be started and was indirectly responsible for Madison's winning touchdown. Bower, having been shifted to center in the absence of Captain Allman played well throughout.

W. Hough, a coach and his victorious boys arrived here about 3 o'clock Sunday morning and were met at the station by large delegation of students who were enthused by the victory. The Madison student body has given the team wonderful backing this year even though they have had rather hard luck in winning. It is hoped that this game will be a starter and that the "Purples" will clean up on Clark County Hi here next Friday and Pineville there the following week.

DANVILLE INTERCEDES FOR YOUNG MURDERER

A dispatch from Danville has a plea for Steve McQueen, 17-year-old boy, sentenced to death for murdering "Uncle Ike" Coyle near Big Hill. The Danville dispatch says:

Danville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Steve McQueen, 17-year-old, convicted in the Rockcastle circuit court of the murder of Isaac Coyle, and said to be the youngest prisoner ever given death sentence in Kentucky, awaits his execution day in the Boyle county jail here, declaring that when the crime was committed he was under the influence of liquor and not altogether responsible.

Unable to read and write, the boy claims he did not know right from wrong as he had never been taught. Raised in a small house located on the Jackson-Rockcastle line, he had very little schooling.

Clemency, on the grounds of the boy's age, will be asked of Governor Morrow by Boyle and Rockcastle people interested in the case.

Convicted in March, McQueen was brought to the jail here. His lawyers appealed the case on the grounds that the youth had been forced to go thru a "sweating process" that is unconstitutional, but the Court of Appeals affirmed the death sentence.

Steps will be taken by his attorneys and friends asking that justice be tempered with mercy and the sentence commuted, it was said today.

McQueen has been a model prisoner, Jailer Timoney said. He has been taught while in jail here to read and write a little. His sentence was the first carrying death as a penalty inflicted in Rockcastle county in many years.

LANCASTER WINS OVER COVINGTON

Lancaster's crack football eleven went up another notch toward the high school championship of the state when it defeated the big Covington Hi team at Lancaster Saturday by 26-6. Although outwitted heavily, the Garrard county boys uncovered a dazzling attack and bewilderment. Then on defense they their bulky opponents by their speed. Then on defense, they went in and fought like tigers, their light line holding against the battering of the heavy Covington backs like a stone wall. The game was played before an immense crowd, probably 2,500 or 3,000 people witnessing the contest.

The two Robinson boys, "Battle Ax" Cox, Castineau and Kavanaugh were the outstanding stars for Lancaster, though every man on the eleven distinguished himself at times. Cox is a wonder, both on offense and defense.

Byars, of Lexington, was umpire of the game against Covington, and Billy Miller, referee. Their work could not have been improved upon for fairness and efficiency.

TOBACCO SHOWS 37 PER CENT INCREASE

For 1922 Over 1921 Crop, According To Government Figures Out Today

Kentucky's total production of tobacco, of all types, in 1922, is estimated at 446,400,000 pounds in the November crop report for Kentucky issued today by the Louisville office of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics in connection with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hama. This is about 37 per cent increase over the 325,710,000 pounds produced in Kentucky in 1921 but only about 96 per cent of the state's average annual production of 467,000,000 pounds from 1916 to 1920, both inclusive. Both burley and dark types show a sharp increase, being greater in Kentucky this year compared to 1921, the per cent of increase being greater in the dark districts than in the burley district. The average yield per acre this year in Kentucky, including all types of tobacco, is 899 pounds, as compared to 846 pounds in 1921 and the 10 year average of 852 pounds per acre. The United States entire tobacco crop, of all types, is estimated at 1,330,375,000 pounds this season compared to 1,075,418,000 pounds in 1921 and an average annual production of 1,377,866,000 pounds 1916-20 inclusive. Quality of tobacco in Kentucky is reported as 88 per cent this season as compared to 84 per cent in 1921, while the quality of the United States' total crop is 84.3 per cent this season compared to 79.7 per cent last year.

The Kentucky corn crop this season is estimated at 93,748,000 bushels compared to 82,150,000 bushels last year and an average annual production of 97,152,000 bushels 1916-20 inclusive while this year's Irish potato crop in Kentucky is estimated at 4,720,000 bushels, or 25 per cent more than the 3,770,000 bushels produced in this state in 1921. Other crops reported for Kentucky are: Sweet potatoes 1,818,000 bushels; apples 5,070,000 bushels; pears 150,000 bushels; clover seed 46,000 bushels; sorghum sirup 3,984,000 gallons. In 1921 Kentucky's production of these crops was: Sweet potatoes 1,872,000 bushels; apples 636,000 bushels; pears 4,000 bushels; clover seed 34,000 bushels and sorghum sirup 4,080,000 gallons.

It is estimated that approximately 5 per cent of Kentucky's acreage of corn this season was put into silos, the average yield per acre being only about 5.5 tons. About 83 per cent of this season's corn crop in Kentucky is reported as being merchantable, and farmers also report they have only 6 per cent of last year's Kentucky corn crop still on farms. The average yield of corn per acre this year in Kentucky is 28 bushels, compared to 25.6 bushels per acre last year and a 10 year average of 23 bushels.

CALIFORNIA VOTES DRY

Again California has provided the election surprise of the nation. Believed a stronghold of the wets, the state has passed the dry column, giving the prohibition forces their greatest victory of the recent election. By a referendum the people of the state have voted in favor of a State prohibition enforcement law, which patterned after the Volstead act, is claimed by the wets to be even more strict in its provisions. On the face of returns from half the state the measure appeared to be doomed to a two to one defeat. But the early returns were from the northern part of the state where San Francisco recorded a 60,000 wet majority.

WARNING ODOR TO DETECT GAS LEAK

Yale Scientists Experiment to Find Mixture That Will Give Notice of Escaping Fumes.

SEEK ANTIDOTE FOR ASPHYXIA

Artificial Atmosphere 95 Per Cent Oxygen Called Best Method Yet Known—Doctors Breathe Gas to Test Cure.

New York.—Scientists of Yale university, who have been asked by the American Gas association to discover some means of reducing accidental deaths by asphyxiation, have developed a new technique for rescuing persons overcome by gas and are also experimenting with warning odors to mix with gas in order to make escaping fumes detected far more quickly than at present.

The most efficient warning odor so far developed is a substance called mercaptan. Dr. Yandell Henderson of Yale who, with Prof. Howard W. Haggard, has been in charge of these investigations, said that mercaptan had an odor closely resembling that of the skunk, and that objections had been made against its use. In spite of its admitted high efficiency. One drop of the substance, which can be made synthetically from coal tar, is said to be sufficient to diffuse a powerful warning odor throughout the Grand Central terminal. Because of the enormous volume of gas used in this city any substance suited for the purpose of giving far and wide the alarm of leaking gas must be capable of communicating a sharp odor to an enormous volume of air or gas. When he was reminded that a slight odor of gas often hung about a gas jet or stove, Doctor Henderson said:

"In good modern apparatus, there should be no trouble of that kind. If any substance is to be mixed with the gas to give it an odor, it must be something strong enough to be noticed at once."

Call Most Gas Deaths Suicide.

So far no gas company has carried the experiment to the extent of furnishing mercaptan mixed with gas to their customers. In spite of the admitted excellence of such a signal as a life-saver, the scientists held that the best practical method for cutting down accidental deaths in cities through the use of gas was the requirement of a high standard of gas apparatus. The report of Doctors Haggard and Henderson to the American Gas association said:

"The observations made by the authors during the investigation indicate that a considerable number of the cases of fatal asphyxia recorded as accidental in the Borough of Manhattan, New York city, are really suicide. The published figures for 1920 report 124 suicides by gas out of a total of 360 suicides; they report also 180 fatal accidental gasings out of a total of 2,215 violent deaths, this total including 461 highway fatalities and 367 falls from windows, elevators, etc. In the 313 deaths thus assigned to gas, suicides certainly contributed in reality a much larger proportion and the accidental gasings were correspondingly fewer than these figures show. The average citizen of New York runs a much greater risk of losing his life in a street accident or by a fall from a window or elevator than from asphyxia and he may reduce the latter risk practically to zero by the exercise of a little care.

Blames Defective Apparatus.

"In fact, a large proportion of accidental fatalities are due to obviously defective fixtures, chiefly cheap, badly made, old, worn, cracked, loose tubing between the gas jet and stores or burners of various sorts. This is not a matter over which gas companies can exercise any control."

The experiments of the Yale scientists were reported as establishing the value of the administration to sufferers from gas poisoning of an artificial atmosphere composed of 5 per cent carbon dioxide and 95 per cent oxygen. The carbon dioxide in the human system, it is alleged, automatically regulates the action of the lungs. Carried by the blood to brain centers, controlling the breathing apparatus, the carbon dioxide stimulates breathing. Gas poisoning upsets this automatic control, because the carbon dioxide which is breathed by the victim has a chemical effect, destroying much of the carbon dioxide normally in the bloodstream. The sufferer, therefore, quits breathing and, as his system is deprived of oxygen, he becomes asphyxiated.

Doctors Henderson and Haggard and others voluntarily allowed themselves to be rendered unconscious by gas in order to prove the value of their carbon-dioxide and oxygen mixture. Breathing these substances from tanks, in which they were compressed, they were speedily restored, without the ordinary after-effects of asphyxiation, according to their reports.

After discussing the other methods and explaining the carbon-dioxide and oxygen treatment, the report continues:

"The point cannot be too strongly emphasized that for treatment to be effective it must be applied at the earliest possible moment after the victim is discovered and must remove the carbon monoxide from his blood as soon as possible."

Beautiful Reception

Rarely even for a private entertainment has the Masonic Temple looked lovelier or more festive than it did on Friday evening when its doors were opened to everyone sufficiently interested to come to the reception that was arranged by the Health and Welfare League to afford an opportunity for Miss Quinn to meet the peoples of Richmond and the county and for them to meet her. In every available space great bowls or baskets of flowers were placed; in each of the many windows tall vases of chrysanthemums and stalks of canna stood out in bold relief against the immaculate shades; the Masons have just recently hung. St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and a painful period. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and pains about the body are from troubles only women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away—one after another.

There was an informality about the whole affair that made it most enjoyable. Miss Quinn's manner is particularly cordial and winning and all who were there felt that she would be able to meet the requirements of her somewhat difficult position she has come to fill in the community. The only regret of the committee in charge was that more did not avail themselves of this very delightful opportunity of meeting her.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in its preliminary report shows stocks of butter and eggs in cold storage November 1 as follows:

1921	77,983,000 lbs.
Shortage	4,066,000 lbs.

Deliveries of cream are about normal for the season, and prices on butterfat have worked higher in sympathy with the butter markets. Consumption of butter is reported to be falling off a little, due to higher retail price and there is some surplus butter accumulating in the hands of wholesalers.

More attention to the production and care of cream will result in higher grades and better butter.

Heavy receipts of live poultry last week have been reflected in increased volume of dressed poultry arriving at seaboard cities this week, and lower prices prevail on dressed stock. There has been some improvement in the value of live poultry over the low prices of the previous week.

Reports indicate there is still a large crop of poultry on the farms to be marketed, and produces are now culling out and selling fowl that are through laying.

The supply of fresh eggs continues light and good prices are realized on fine stock. Storage eggs are generally selling below cost, and due to the larger stocks, continued heavy consumption is necessary to clear the supply before fresh production increases.

Fine Madison County Farm Known as "Ellendale" at COMMISSIONER'S SALE

JOHN R. GIBSON'S DEVISEES AND CR EDITORS, Defendants.

Pursuant to a judgment and order of court in the above entitled action, the undersigned commissioner of the Madison Circuit Court will on Wednesday, November 29, 1922, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. M., at the mansion house on the premises hereinafter described, will offer for sale the landed estate of the late John R. Gibson, known as "Ellendale," and more particularly described as follows:

This tract of land contains 176.63 acres and has been sub-divided by a civil engineer into four tracts, as shown from the blue print filed with the papers in this action.

TRACT NO. 1—Contains 65.26 acres and on which is located the mansion house and outbuildings. This tract of land fronts the Lancaster Pike, adjacent to the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and the mansion house and barn are watered from the water works of the City of Richmond, Ky., and lighted from the city lights.

TRACT NO. 2—Contains 34.99 acres and lies east of the property of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and is reached by a forty foot roadway leading from the Lancaster Pike in an easterly direction along the south edge of the property of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, as shown from the blue print above mentioned.

TRACT NO. 3—Contains 35.48 acres and lies just east of Tract No. 2, and is reached by the same roadway as is tract No. 2.

TRACT NO. 4—Contains 38.89 acres and lies just east of Tract No. 1, and south of Tract No. 3. This tract is also reached by the same roadway mentioned above.

The commissioner will first sell Tract No. 1, then tract No. 2, then Tract No. 3, then Tract No. 4 or enough of one or more of said tracts to bring the sum of $54,000.00. After selling said tracts of land separately the commissioner will then offer the same as a whole and accept the bid or bids bringing the most money.

This property is in a high state of cultivation and is as well or better located than any other property near the City of Richmond, Kentucky, that will be offered for sale in the next fifty years. For homes, and for people who wish to live in and near the Normal School or the Madison High School this property cannot be excelled. It is adjacent to the city limits of the City of Richmond, Kentucky, with all advantages enjoyed by the residents of the city and without the burdens of taxations borne by residents of the city and fronts the busiest and most up-to-date thoroughfare in the city of Richmond. The residence and outbuildings on Tract No. 1 consists of an elevenroomed, brick colonial homestead with all modern conveniences and in perfect repair, costing over $40,000 and two tobacco barns, tenant house, garage, scales and stock barns and other outbuildings, vineyard and orchard. This property is now ready to be cultivated or put to any use the buyer may see fit. Persons desiring to see the subdivisions can see the same at my office or in the office of the circuit clerk.

TERMS—This property will be sold on a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months, the purchaser or purchasers being required to execute bonds for the purchase money, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent from date of sale until paid, payable to the commissioner.
